Overlapping of Churches

A Very Important and Far-Resolving Agreement Made by the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches of Alberta.

Church union between three of the great Protestant denominations has been the subject of discussion between these bodies in Canada for some time past. While the subject of organic union is at present undecided, yet the matter of co-operation between the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Alberta, for the purpose of preventing overlapping in missionary operations, has come to a practical issue, which will have the effect of a vital and important bearing in the cotany places, villages and towns in Alberta of such a far-reaching effect that very few people at present are fully aware of, that is, of the people attending these two churches, that we take this opportunity of publishing some of the particulars relating to the above, so as to give our readers some idea of what this co-operation may mean to many towns and villages.

At a meeting of the joint committee (appointed by the heads of these two churches in Alberta), at Knox Church, Calgary, the 11th of last January, the following plans and principles were unanimously adopted as a basis of co-operation on the part of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches to prevent overlapping in missionary operations in Alberta:

I. That the principle of co-operation so as to prevent needless overlapping be fully recognized, and that the detailed work of applying this principle to the various fields be delegated to local joint committees (known as District Committees), as hereinafter provided for, consisting of two ministers and two laymen from each church, to be appointed by the present joint committee (known as the Provincial Committee). The Superintendents of Missions of both churches shall be ex-officio members of all District Committees.

Note.—We define overlapping as being a condition in a city, town, village or rural community where either or both churches are receiving support from the missionary funds, and where in the opinion of the District Committee, one of the churches can adequately supply the need.

II. A denomination shall be considered to have charge of a field when it has had a missionary regularly in charge of such field for a period of three months consecutively; and this claim shall be surrendered when the denomination has left the field without regular supply for a continuous period of nine months.

III. Before either denomination shall undertake new work in either an old or a new field, the proposal shall be presented to the District Committee and its approval obtained.

IV. When one of the two denominations has charge of a field, the other shall not enter that field until the District Committee has approved of the same, or referred the matter to the Provincial Committee.

V. In the case of new territory the District Committee shall secure the fullest information regarding the rights and comparative strength of the two denominations, and base its action on this knowledge. The Superintendents of Missions shall be largely responsible for furnishing this information.

VI. In estimating the rights and comparative strength of the denominations in such cases, and especially where amalgamation of the two congregations is proposed, the following matters shall be considered:—1. Priority of occupation. 2. Strength of cause. 3. Value of investment. 4. The preference of the people who are not identified with other denominations in that community. N. B.—By "strength of cause" we understand the number of members and adherents of the denomination.

VII. It shall be competent for any congregation of the Presbyterian church to appoint not more than three persons and for a quarterly official board of the Methodist church to appoint a similar number to state their case before a District or the Provincial Committee. This refers to fields where a change may be contemplated.

VIII. Either denomination, when it has once withdrawn, either voluntarily or as the result of the amalgamation of the two congregations, from a field, must not re-enter the field without the consent of the District Committee.

IX. Any member of either denomination who does not desire to unite with the amalgamated church in a community may have his membership transferred to a pastor of his denomination on some adjacent field.

X. In the judgment of this committee the first charge upon the proceeds from the sale of church, manse, or parsonage property (where the two congregations have combined) shall be the payment of any debts or obligations incurred by the trustees of the property sold; secondly, the return of monies spent by the Mission Boards in acquiring said property; thirdly, the surplus should, so far as is possible in accordance with law, accrue to the benefit of the united congregation.

The Province was then divided into districts.

District No. 1, Macleod, to include all the fields on the Calgary and Macleod line of railway, from Okotoks on the north to the international boundary on the south, all fields on the Camrangan line of railway and on the Crow's Nest line from Tabor on the east to the provincial boundary on the west.

This is the district that may, perhaps, interest us the most, as it includes Cayley and the outstations in this vicinity.

District committees were also appointed to carry out the work.

The committee for District No. 1 comprises Revs. J. M. Hamilton, Macleod; P. Henderson, Claresholm; A. M. Gordon and T. P. Perry, Lethbridge; also two laymen—Dr. Stanley, High River, and T. W. Quayle, Claresholm.

The ruling of these committees would practically mean that where either or both of these churches are receiving missionary money, that where one church is thought to be able to meet the needs, either one of the said denominations are liable to be requested to pull out. There are no doubt lots of places where this can be made applicable. There is no question as to the fact that much money and effort is being practically wasted at the present time, which could be utilized to so much better advantage and with great success in the daily increasing new fields that are being opened up in this province—money and help that is so badly needed. The different missionary boards are constantly hearing the old Macedonian cry—"Come over and help us"; but, alas, there is no one to send. By the releasing of large sums of money and many useful, lives that are practically tied up, those urgent appeals can in a great measure be answered.

It is well for the people attending the churches of these two great denominations to consider these important questions, and should it be applied to your town in a practical form to be ready to act intelligently and for the best interests of the church at large, which may mean much in some individual cases. Think, too, of other needing gospel light and blessing, to whom perhaps we can indirectly be the means in bringing to them both.

Committee No. 1 meets at Macleod on Wednesday, March 1

Senator Davis has introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act as affecting the free homesteads. Since the land had increased in value, he said, there had developed a class of professional homesteaders, and his bill proposed that instead of requiring that thirty acres be broken, as at present, each homesteader be required to plant and maintain at least one thousand trees. At the suggestion of Sir Richard Cartwright action was deferred on the bill for a week.

Cayley on the Line

Composed by one of Cayley's old timers, Daddy Barnes, who is nearly 80 years of age.

At singing I'm not very good,
 But still I feel sometimes Like singing to the glories Of Cayley on the Line.

"Way down in California,
 They say the climate's fine;
 But nowhere is it quite so good As Cayley on the Line.

From Washington to Oregon,
 The Yankees drift in all the time
 To settle down in happiness, In Cayley on the Line.

It is said that girls are scarcer here
 Than in any other clime.
 But if you want to get the best Come to Cayley on the Line.

If you want something to drink—
 Water, coffee, beer or wine;
 The best of these can all be had
 At Cayley on the Line.

Or if you want something to eat,
 Our boarding-house is sublime;
 They sure can sling along the hash
 At Cayley on the Line.

Now if you are travelling on the line Why, please don't pass us by;
 You never will be sorry,
 That you gave Cayley a try.

Merry Music Mixers' Concert

The male concert given in the Presbyterian Hall on Friday evening was a huge success. Everyone remarked they had the best laugh they have had since coming to Cayley. At 8.30 the meeting was opened with Wm. Caspell as chairman. The first number,
 "The German Band," under the direction of Prof. J. K. Cohen of London, Eng., was a rare treat.
 It consisted of about fifteen instruments, cornets, horns, cymbals, bass violin, bagpipes, bread pans, accordians, flutes and whistles.
 This was followed by a song by Mr. Barnes. In response to an encore he gave a recitation of his own composition, "Cayley on the Line." Then came music by Messrs. Nabby, Allan and Beaton on the mandolin, violin and piano, which was thoroughly enjoyed.
 Next was a recitation by Hugh Johnston in Gaelic. Hugh still retains the accent as it was spoken in the Garden of Eden. Then came a debate, "Resolved, that a clean cranky wife is more preferable than a good natured slovenly one." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. McDonald, L. Caspell and McVicar, and the negative by Messrs. G. Sloan, J. Elvee and Barnes. The judges were Messrs McKinnon, Scragg and A. O.
 Brown. The addresses were all interesting and witty, showing that the subject had been given considerable thought. The decision was in favor of the affirmative by a small margin. Rev. F.
 Bushfield, who acted as critic, then gave a short report. Then came a duet by H. Johnston and A. Durban, which was enjoyed by all. This was considered by some to be the best number on the programme. Then came an interesting talk by the pastor, Rev. Beaton. Next was the selling of the Autograph Quilt which the ladies had made. It was sold to Mr. R. S. Knox for $13. Following this was the refreshments, which was also provided by the men and specially looked after by G. Saunders, W. Eaglesham, D.
 Sinclair and G. Sloan. Many of the delicacies usually provided by the women were missing, but from the quantity that was eaten the gentlemen can rest assured that everything was thoroughly enjoyed.

Farmers' Institute Meeting

The meeting of the above held on Monday night in the Presbyterian hall, was well attended, the hall being crowded to the doors.

Mr. Wm. Caspell was the chairman, who introduced the subject in a few appropriate words.

Mr. A. Stevenson was the first speaker, giving a very concise address on "Forestry," the kind of trees best suited for this part of Alberta.

The preparation of the soil was a very important matter in the successful growing of trees, which should be thoroughly summermulched, plowed deep from eight to ten inches. He advised the planting of small trees from one year old. In some locations the Box Elder was very suitable.

Trees should be planted at least four feet apart each way, so as to allow of proper cultivation, being very careful that no weeds or grass is allowed to grow, that being a very important point to remember.
 Trees should be planted 50 or 60 yards from the farm buildings.
 This would allow the garden to be well sheltered in between. All tree cultivation should cease in August.

The variety of trees to be planted was pretty well a matter of location. Of all the trees most suitable for this section is the Russian Poplar. This is of a much quicker growth than any other. The Spreading Russian Willow is another good variety; also the Green Ash, which is the most valuable of them all. He did not think Cottonwood was so good for this locality. Perhaps, however, the best of all the Evergreen tree. In planting this tree never allow the roots to be exposed to the sun or the wind for one minute, as it greatly injures them and makes them harder to raise. Get young trees from two to three feet long, well branched to the bottom. The best time to plant these trees is in the month of May, just as the buds are about to burst out. The Jack Pine and Spruce are the best varieties for here. Speaking of small fruits the speaker said the strawberry was the easiest raising, and gave in detail how to plant and preserve the same from the strong winds and frost. Covering with straw was the best method for the latter purpose.

Mr. S. S. Stensell's address on "Birds, in their relation to agriculture," was very interesting and instructive. Birds and bird life and habits was fully explained and illustrated by limelight views of various species; also their usefulness or otherwise to the farmer.

An Appeal to the Maids of Cayley

Ye Maids nine, wid me combine Throughout this glorious nation, While I compose a song, it won't be long.

I beg your approbation,
 'Tis consarin' of an Irish lad, Sure his name 'tis Guy O'Kaitting,
 Who lives alone on a homestead o' his own.

And lives so fair and aisy.
 He lays down his spade, his lawfal trade,

And writes to the girls of Cayley;
 From a place called Sweet Valley, all alone in his cabin.

He writes so fair and aisy.

Now, girls, take heed, all ye who read,
 And beware of this same guy—O' Kaitting; Sure he'll coo as soft words as ever ye heard.

For he speaks so fair and aisy, Faith, I'll tell ye no lie, I'm beginning to envy

This same darlint—O' Kaitting, Wid his suiling face, and his jaunty grace.

For he smiles so fair and aisy, Arrah now, 'tis meel that is nigh on the shelf.

Through the lack of some fair maiden's pity, For had I sweethearts galore, whom I could love and adore,

Think ye I'd be writing this senseless ditty?
 So maidens of Cayley, so attractive and cally,

Beware of this lad O'Kaitting, Wid his wiles and his art, he will win your hearts,

And thin break thim same hearts in pieces.

Now mids, take good care, lest ye fall in his snare.

For he woos to fair and aisy;
 For ye'll believe me, he is sure to deceive ye.

And lave ye sorely heart-broken,
 To swallow your grief widout hopes of relief.

And sorra a bit of a token,
 For have ye not read what the poet hath said,—

Ireland's poet, Lover—
 "Ginst a smile and a glance, poor Wisdom's chance

Is now as weak as iver."
 So, girls, if ye don't mind, ye are likely to find

Your hearts left bleeding and weary, So place your affection wid me for protection.

Your true-hearted Paddy
 Fawn KARRY.
